The First-of-Its-Kind Hyper-Reality Immersive Experience - 'Train to Busan Horror House' at Resorts World Genting Produced by Vividthree

Singapore, 4 November 2019 - Vividthree Holdings Ltd. (SGX: OMK), a virtual reality, visual effects and computer-generated imagery production studio ("Vividthree", the "Company" or the "Group") is pleased to announce that it has been engaged to create and produce the first-of-its-kind immersive experience 'Train to Busan Horror House', which was officially launched at Resorts World Genting ("RWG") on 31 October 2019.

Vividthree secured the IP rights to the Train to Busan (TTB) in early 2018, and launched a successful Train to Busan VR experience in China (Beijing and Xiamen). The latest iteration in Resorts World Genting sees Vividthree taking the IP one step further, by creating a never-seen-before "Train to Busan Horror House" experience. Visitors can now be fully immersed in the TTB universe, complete with detailed physical environments as well as VR worlds.

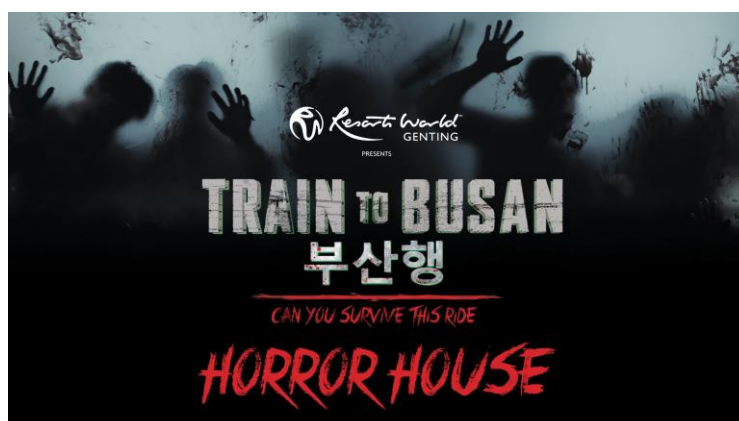

Visitors will interact with a cast of fifty live actors, and can experience the world through sound, touch, feel and smell, bringing them closer than ever to the story, characters and environment. The TTB Horror House open their doors to the public at Resorts World Genting from 31 October 2019 to 01 January 2020.

With the successful development of Train to Busan immersive experiences, Vividthree has also opened the doors to potential new IP partnerships. Early in 2019, Vividthree entered into a memorandum of Understanding ("MOU") with Animation International Ltd, to collaborate and develop the Doraemon Experience ("DE") show. The first DE show is intended to be launched in Singapore within the next 12 months, followed by other regional parts of Asia.

Chief Executive Officer of Vividthree, Mr Jed Mok commented, “After we launched TTB VR Tour Show in China, our TTB IP has gained a lot of attention and interest from various partners. We have further capitalised on our TTB IP to create and produce a brand new TTB Horror House concept show for Resorts World Genting, one of the leading integrated resort in the world. The commissioned project is a testament to our creative capability in great story, and seamless integration of technologies. We will seize opportunities to conceptualise and create unique immersive experiences for the world.”
